

Press Release – 3th May 2016

Qobuz at High End Munich 2016!

A renowned show in the audiophile industry, the 35th edition of the long-awaited Munich meeting will be held from May 5 to May 8, 2016. As many as 500 exhibitors and 900 brands will be present. Among them: Qobuz!

True to its reputation as a benchmark service for audiophiles, Qobuz will be present at the High End show for the fifth year in a row. Qobuz will be the only streaming and download service at the High End show this year!

To the delight of all fans of our unmatched musical experience, Qobuz will be at their disposal to discuss the service's latest developments and offer them a stroll through the wide and contrasting Hi-Res landscape.

What to expect

The following equipment will be available at the Qobuz stand so that the public can test the quality of the Qobuz experience in the best possible conditions: Focal and Sony headphones, a Nagra DAC for flawless sound reproduction, an iMac to test the French application Audirvana, an Astell & Kern portable audio player, and the famous Node 2 network drive, manufactured by Bluesound. To test our mobile apps there will also be an iPad at your disposal.

To quickly find the Qobuz team in this 28.000 m2 area, just head to stand S06, Hall 4, where our staff will be waiting for you with a few special offers, including 1 month of free Hi-Fi streaming and the new album by Emily Jane White, which you can download for free from our website (in Hi-Res)!

Forthcoming integrations

Qobuz recently extended its partnership ecosystem thanks to its integration with high-end Aurender devices. At the High End Munich Show 2016, Qobuz is proud to announce new integrations of its API with German high end manufacturer T+A (and American brand Mark Levinson from the Harman Luxury Audio Group).

We will soon tell you more about these new developments, which are but the tip of the iceberg of our upcoming projects!
